

Preconceive: Nursing Job Description

Nurse | Lactation, Pediatrics

New York City | Bay Area – San Francisco, San Rafael, Oakland CA |

Other metro areas will be considered.

Preconceive (pre-conceive.com) provides classes and consults in fertility, pregnancy and parenthood. We are a nationwide brand, expanding our prenatal and postnatal classes. We have all heard about the lean-in conversation, but we dare you to name one brand that is empowering women to build their families at the same time they build their careers. You haven't heard of one yet, it is because we are building it! We are looking for qualified nurses and health professionals who are passionate about equipping women with the knowledge they need to navigate the parenthood spectrum end-to-end.

We are looking for qualified health care professionals to provide phone or home 1-1 consults and/or teach group classes for women, men, same-sex couples and single parents. Consults and classes are structured into sessions, specifically, "Developmental Milestones", "Newborn Care 101", "Newborn Care for Dads", "Breastfeeding 101", "Pumping & Returning to Work", and "Breastfeeding Office Hours".

Who you are:

- You are an RN, NP or PA with experience in providing newborn or pediatrics education and care and early parenthood education.
- Preferred 3+ years of experience caring for and working with infants, toddlers and new parents; resulting in potential to teach newborn care classes and provide phone/home consultations.
- Experience with breastfeeding highly sought; with minimum of 2 years of breastfeeding experience (I.E.- newborn/neonatal nursery and/or private consults) as a certified IBCLC or other similar certification; resulting in potential to teach breastfeeding classes and provide phone/home consultations.
- Experience providing education to groups of pregnant couples and/or new parents w/ infants.
- You have an entrepreneurial mindset, you're patient and willing to work with others who contribute to newer models of supportive healthcare services. You strive to impact the efficiency of health education and get excited about the "next generation" of prenatal classes.
- You care! This isn't just a job; you really want to make access to reproductive and postpartum health experts easier for new parents.
- Comfort with public speaking is a must.

What we can do for you:

- The opportunity to make a lasting impact in parenting education, and women & children's health!
- Work with brilliant people all dedicated to providing services for new parents, we are a diverse team and come from all different career backgrounds.
- Opportunities to contribute to roundtable curriculum development.
- Opportunities to contribute to digestible evidence based articles for publication on our website.
